

3 Reasons to Fund Public Charter School Rent & Lease Costs

Reason #1. Chartered public schools are state-authorized public schools, supported and approved by the New Hampshire Department of Education and State Board of Education. They have no access to local school tax support. They need targeted state education aid already provided to other schools.

Reason #2. The state's funding policy gives targeted education aid and facility aid to the poorest schools to alleviate fiscal capacity disparity. These independent public chartered schools are left out. It's unfair and unreasonable.

Reason #3. The state budget has 280 listings where rent and lease is covered for all sorts of state programs—$29,000,000.00. Not one cent is allowed for rent and lease costs for New Hampshire's public charter schools. A state's funding policy should be equitable.

3 Reasons to Fund Public Charter School Rent & Lease Costs

4/1/2008

State-authorized charter schools have no funding for rent or lease costs. They must pay their rent from their limited state aid for operations (teachers and texts). These independent charter schools have no access to any other facility aid available, including the $44,000,000.00 million in facility aid for other public schools. The situation is unreasonable. These are state-authorized schools.

The situation also undermines the State's access to helpful funding. Without a facility stipend, New Hampshire is not eligible for federal Charter School Facility grants. These grants would be quite beneficial to the state and other public schools. Most states offer a per-student stipend or other allowance for charter school facility costs and can access charter school facility grants.

New Hampshire taxpayers pay more than $73,000,000.00 for these costs: $44,000,000.00 is budgeted for Public School Facility aid, and $29,000,000.00 represents public funds for rent and lease costs to all types of state programs. Undoubtedly some of the budgeted rent and lease allocations provide rent and lease for space. Chartered public schools without public space are provided no allocation for facility costs and have been told to go raise the money themselves.

Senate Bill 343 provided "school building aid grants available to charter schools as reimbursement for annual lease costs." Senate Bill 343 was quietly tabled, with no vote on record to clarify Senators wanting charter school students left without facility funding.

In the following 280 citations for rent & lease costs below, we believe there are numerous examples of state-authorized programs receiving funds for rents and leases. There is no reason to budget zero rent and lease funding for state-authorized, chartered schools.

280 Rent & Lease allocations from House Bill 1-A, New Hampshire's State Budget, FY 2008:
